tions who have remained stient, grate inclining upon the sear. Such as these were the inclined that heralded the passage of the Positive Slave at all 1850.

Such as these attended the abrogation of the Missouni Comp ranks in 1854. I know full well first the fall of Constitutional Liberty is as certain to follow these incelents occurring now, as is followed the like uncidents occurring now, as is followed the like uncidents on the sad occasions to which I have referred. Ant, for aught I know to tosming gun, which proclaimed those former tosming gun, which proclaimed the same as on all former occasions of a like classocie. I have followed the like uncidents on the same as on all former occasions of a like classocie. I have followed the like uncidents on the same as on all former occasions of a like classocie. I have followed the like uncidents of the capture illustrate the life and the death of Thomas Jefferson, and commemorate the immortal names of the Signers of the Declaration of American Independence. It was a new acknowledgment which I was about to ask from the Senate of the United States to the great fact on which the liberties of this country and all its Constitutions is rest—that all men are created equal. Sir, the ancress which the honorable Senator from Connecticut [Mr. Toucry] obtained over me, when the floor was assigned to bim, was ominous. The Senate of the United States will creet no monument to the memory of Jefferson, who declared, that, in the unequal contest between Slavery and Freedom, the Almighty had no attribute which could take purt with the oppressor. But the Senate will, on the other hand, promptly ery and freedom, the Aragary had no attribute which could take purt with the oppressor. But the Senate will, on the other hand, promptly comply with the demand to raise another bulwark around the institution of Slavery.

Mr President, there is nothing new in the circumstances of this transaction, so it has happened now, as on all similar occasions heretofore, that now, as on all similar occasions heretofore, that everything foreign from the question at issue has been brought into the debate. The introduction of these foreign matters has, as heretofore, been attended with a profusion of repronches and catumities and opithets as inapposite to the occasion as they are inconsistent with the decorm and dignity of an angust Legislature. Those of us upon whom such denunciations, calumnics, and dignify of an august Legislature. Those of us upon whom such denunciations, calumnies, and opithets have been showered, have endured them loog, and I think no one will deny that we have endured them patiently. To such Somators as have given ulterance to their opinions in that form of argument, I make, for myself only, this reply—that that field of debate is relinquished exclusively to themselves. Now, as on similar occasions heretofore, the relations of political parties, and their respective morits and demetical have entered leggly into the discussion. Sir, I shall forbear from entering into that part of the debate for the tenson that I am addressing not politicians, but statesmen. So, far as the justice or expediency of the mensure under consideration is concerned, it can make no difference whether these who advocate it or those who oppose it are Whige or are Democrats, or helong to that new class of men who are popularly called Know-Nothings. Arguments based on such grands may have their weight semiewhere olse outside of this Chamber—or possibly up there—[point-House, but of the House of Representatives, for the purpose, as it seems, of waskening prejudice, against those who oppose the passage of this bill. I give notice to honorable Seasters who have adopted this line of argument, that it is noither required by the people whom I represent here, nor is it consistent with their dignity and honor that I should assume to interpret the matices which determined their choice of legislators. The results are before the world. They explain the maches.

Equally derogatory from my duty, and disrespectful to the statesmen around me, and to the States which they represent, would it be, were I to inquire into the manner or circumstances of the alrections made by those States. I recognize every Senation here as the exponent of the opinions and principles of the State from which he comes. And I bear no voice from any State but these to which he representatives give appreciaions and principles of the Statu from which he comes. And I hear no voice from any State but a that to which his representatives give utcreased. Nevertheless, Mr. President, I shall not shrink from such an exposition of my own opinions and assuments on collatoral issues, as shall foul to disembarrars a good cause by relieving it from my just prejudices, directed against myself as its advocate. First, in regard to what is called the Nebraska Question: I freely confess that I regard the abrogation of the Missouri Compromise, by the Nebraska bill of the last session as an unjust, unnecessary, dangerous, and revolutionary and truth to the dag sinst it as such. Let that vote stand against me, in the minds and in the hearts, if it must be as, of those Isenators who regard it as as comes for represent. Certainly, this is not the time to justify that vate. A time to do so, was, when the vote was given, and its vindication was then duly made. There is probably another time coming for the renown! of that vine ideation—a time in the near future, when the question of a restoration of Freedom throughout diction—a time of a restoration of Freedom throughout the Torritories of the United States will arise in the Senate Then, if God shall bless me with continued life and health and strength, I hope again to do my duty. To that future time I adjourn the argument on the bill for the abrogation of the Missouri Compromise. There is more of propriety in the discussions of the Fegitive Siave Law, which have been respected during this debate. I have no need, however, to speak on that subject. I have fully debated it heretofore, on more occasions than one, in this place. in that adopted. A nave thing denated it hereto-fore, on more occasions than one, in this place Every word of what I then said is recorded in There is not a wood that I am willing to take

Timo is full surely and quite rapidly enough resolving the question whether those were right who pronounced the Fugitive Slave Law a just, and necessary, and constitutional act,full of healing to a wounded country, or whether the humble individual who now stands before you was right when he admonished you that that law was unnecessary, unwise, inhuman, and deregatory from the Constitution, and that it would nover be executed without new and continued usurpations. The transaction of this night takes place, in order that the words of that prophecy may be fulfilled. I am not allowed, Sir, to reach the morits of this question without alluding to a hody of men who sport in the public gaze under a name which I leardly know how to repeat in the presence of an grave and roverred an assemblage as this—the Kuow Mothings. They are a name which I lardly know how to repeat in the presence of as grave and revered an assem-blage as this—the Know Nothings. They are said to have contrived their disguise with so-nuch ingenuity, that one who is not a novitate cannot deny a knowledge of their ceremonies and principles, without implying his communion and membership with them. P. S.—After 4 o'clock P. M. you can
"Let her go." The Mayor of the City of Milwaukee, the head of all the Police of the City—a small number we admit, but still sufficient for the preservation of peace, in this city, of forty thousand inhabitants —this Mayor, a man of majestic appearance, as his portrait in the Common Council Room, and the numerous busts in the windows of the bookstores, and daguerrectype likenesses in advertising cases on East Water Street, will show to the satisfaction of the public; His Honor issues on the day preceding and on the morning of election day, a proclamation, calling, or requesting all saloon-korpers, beer-hall-keopers, &c., to close their doors on election day and not sell spirits, wine, or beer, and thus pressive the peace of the city, and hopes that all "will unite in assisting him." The proclamation would here have been perfect, had it here ended, and His Honor would save left office under a shower of thanks from all lovers of peace in the city. But a postscript ! added, and such a postscript as this - "P, S. - Af ter 4 P. M. you can" let her go." We remember an old German farmer who was remarkably blunt in his remarks, and like all blunt spoken men was an honest man. He had a cow and offered her for sale. Another German applied to pur chase her. "Vel," said Hans, "how much you ask for dis cow?" The price was stated, and was lower than common for cows. Hans examined the cow and thought the price so low that there must be something wrong about the cow. Hans-"Dis cow get goot calf?" "Yes," said Sir my honorable friend from Connectic it [Mr. Gillette] has thought this was a good occasion to invite us to consider the question of abilishing Slavery in the District of Columbia a disast thereby incurred some consure. He certairly had a warrant in the latitude which the debuse the owner. Hans-"She give goot milk ?" Farmer-"Oh yes, more sea pailfal" Hans-"Vel den, vat you sell dis cow for ?" Farmer--" Vel had already assumed, although the subject was not very germane to the question before ca.—

I have no hesitation to disclose my fanaticism in that direction. Five years ago I proposed, in the Congress of the United States, the eman ipation of all the slaves in the District of Columbia with the consent of its cultures to be a limited by the consent of its cultures to be a limited by the consent of its cultures to be a limited by the consent of its cultures to be a limited by the consent of its cultures to be a limited by the consent of its cultures to be a limited by the consent of its cultures to be a limited by the consent of its cultures to be a limited by the consent of the cultures to be a limited by the consent of the cultures to be a limited by the consent of the cultures to be a limited by the consent of the cultures to be a limited by the consent of the culture of the cul pation of all the slaves in the District of Colus-bia, with the consent of its cuizens, to be ex-pressed through the customery forms of a popular election, and with full compensation, to be paid out of the public Treasury, to this individ-als who should suffer damage in their form as by so gress an act of national humanity and its-tree. I am ready to go with my honorable free all that length now. I shall be ready to go the as ne-lected the movement were allowed. This We cannot but compete the proclamation of His Honor, to the German's cow, first giving milk, then kicking it over. The proclamatics seks for peace and quietness on an election day appeals to those who have much in their power tinit rength now. I shall be ready to go the sale length to—morrow—next year—always. This is enough, I trust, on that subject. I and oth is here, Sir, are denounced as Abolitionists, in a broader sense, and therefore as traitors. I here no hesitation in confossing the whole truth in the region. towards securing that peace; and who on the las election day closed their doors, and of their own accord refused " to lot her go", and, after the anpeal virtually says, let but 4 P. M. come along, in that point.

I believe that I do not have a human being who maintains or supposes that the Government of the United States has lawful authority or my hit to aboush Slavery in the States of this Union—Certainly, in my own opinion, that Government has an such power or night. But, Sir, I are a man none the less because I am a crizon and a Senator of the United States. And, although I have no nowel to exercise in a slaveholding Str. o. then all are licensed to "let her go"; to the mebriste who may have been turning from a course of drunkenness, by the example of sobriety around him, the 4 o'clock knell strikes, the words in His Honor's postscript "let her go" appear before him, and go he does, and who can say of this Chamber—or possibly up there—[point]—has an such power or right. But, Sir, I so a ling to the galleties]—but certainly not down here. Inquisition has been made concerning the circumstances and influences which attended the recent elections of members, not only of this. I very firstly say that, if I were a member of made disturbance, to their own injury, as well as the public, there is an implied license, that after. The Company has about the public, there is an implied license, that after. such a community. I should recommend to, as if unge upon, my fellow-citizons there—w the patience which could endure until the necess ry reform could safely be obtained—some meas refore the safely be obtained—some the actor of the safely bupple. I add, further, to meet be requirements of those who suppose that a prosition of gradual emaccipation to the slavely ding States is either timely now, or soon will be so, that while I retain a place in the National Councils, any slaveholding State willing to ndept the humaus policy which has been already add atted by my own State and by other States, stall have my vote for any sid, either in lands or meey, from the Federal Government, which the condition of the public Treasury and of the National domain will allow, in furtherance of an object in which not only the slaveholding States are interested but where concerns the be public, there is an implied license, that after 4 P. M. they may be supplied the maddening draught, and may then "let ber go"; to others, who, pressed by the hard times, perhaps recipi-ents from the charitable fund collected at Young's Hall and who have for weeks refrained from drinking intoxicating liquots, and are partly woaned from the habit, 4 o'clock P. M. arrives, and the Mayor's postscript says "let her go";the wife may have to go to the Poor House, bro't about by a new species of quasi city ordinance to " let her go."

This postscript startled us as it did hundreds of others. We might pursue it further, but we have concluded to "let her go." No one in this city has felt greater pride in recording the trifling amount of ctime committed within it than we have made my way at last, through the intris to have, (and wherein an opportunity has been given as so this discussion, to the actual quest on before the Senate. The bill before us is in the sential that made the record)—while in other cities with not a third more inhabitants other cities with not a third more inhabitants than ours have their police forces numbering in some of them nearly a hundred-their pelice courts filled with cases of murders, burglaries Sixtee, or other person, for or on account of ray a cat done under any law of the United Six estate or under color thereof, or for or on account of any right, authority, claim, or titte, sot up by anoth officer or other person, under any law of the United States and the defendant shall, at the first term of such State Court after the passing of this act, or at the first term of such State Court after such suit shall be commenced, file a petition for the recoval of the cause for trial into it the act Circuit Court to be bold in the distinct where the suit is pending or, if there be no first cuit Court insuch district, then to the District Court invested with the powers of a Circuit and larcenies-we have not more than a dozen in all the police force of the city-our police court two-thirds of the time is vacant of an assault and battery case-the Chancellor and even the Reporter in danger of an attack of canus —the city peacoable and quict—in this there is just cause for pride to every citizen, and all should try to "let her go" on in the same routine of peace and quietness, without having 4 P. M. as cuit Court in such district, then to the District Court invested with the powers of a Giusit Court next to be held in said district, and offer good and sufficient surety for his entering in a such Court, on the first day of its session, copic of said process against him and also for his decay expering and entering special hall in the cross if special hall was originally requisite ther in; it shall then be the duty of the State Court to accept the surety and proceed no forther in the cause; and any bail that may have heen trees shall be discharged, and the eard copies hing entered as aforesaid in such Court of the Ur ted State, the cross shell there proceed in the same the time set to " let her go" in a different direc tion

We publish to-day a let er addressed to Hon. Orsamus Cole, asking him to be a candidate for the vecancy that will exist by the expiration of of Judge Crawford's term. Mr. Cole's reply to this invitation is frank and manby—senhowledges the honor of being thus singled out for so exalted a position, and consents to the use of his name in the canvass.

The issue thus made up for the people to pass their verdict on is simply and easily comprehended. Judge Crawford, and these who vote for him, contend that the Fugnire Slave law is constitutionel, and should be enforced. Those who believe the law is unconstitutional, will vote for Mr. Cole.

Ropublicans must hear in mind that this issue cannot be avoided. If Judge Chawford is reelected, it will be heralded abroad as a verdet of the people of Wisconsin in favor of the Fugitive Slave law. We are aware that the friends of Judge C. are shouting very lustily against introducing party spirit into our judicial elections, but they are all working most seabously to keep Judge C. on the Supreme Cours Beach.

A few days since we referred to the advantages to Detroit, and the vast importance to the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad, of the Manitowec and Mississippi Railroad. We stated that forty two miles of the Road—from Manitowec to Menasha at the outlet of Lake Winnebago; could soon be placed under contract. Since then, could soon be placed under contract. Since their, Geo. Reed, Esq., its President, has been on a visit to the Essa, where he has secured such and such assurances for the future as to authorize the positive statement that those 42 miles will be placed under immediate contract and the work commenced without delay. As the line work commenced without delay.

work commenced without delay. As the line runs through a very level country, we may reasonably anticipate that it will, be finished by the time the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad will be completed. This will, in reality, he an extension of our road towards the Mississippi.

While upon this subject, we may state, as we are authorized to do by the Engineer-in-Chief, that the Detroit and Milwaukee Road will be graded from Poutiac to lows, a distance of 100 intles, by the first of August next, and that the irro is stready being laid down on this end of the hine. The prospect, therefore, of an early completion of this great enturprise, is most encouraging, as Ionia is more than half way to Lake Michigan. When completed, it will secure the largest part of the travel from Wisconsin, allows, and Minnesota, to the Enst.—[Detroit Tribune, March, 1st.

4 m ferson, and commemorate the immoral maints of the Signers of the Declaration of American Independence. It was a new acknowledgment which I was about to ask from the Senate of the United States to the great fact on which the liberties of this country and all its Constitutions rest—that all men are created equal. Sir, the success which the honorable Sonator from Connecticut [Mr. Toucry] obtained over me, when the floor was assigned to him, was orninous. The Senate of the United States will creet no monument to the memory of Jeffarson, who declared, that, in the unequal contest between Slavery and Freedom, the Alraighty had no attribute which could take part with the oppressor. But the Senate will, on the other hand, promptly comply with the demand to raise another belwark strotad the institution of Slavery.

Mr President, there is nothing new in the circumstances of this transaction, so it has happened now, as on all similar occasions heretofore, that everything foreign from the question at issue has been brought into the dobate. The introduction of these foreign matters has awheretofore, been at-

Siegeth of wm. H. Seward, its Divine Founder, to come in and parche of the privileges with which He invested it, and of the bloselogs which He invested it, and of the bloselogs which He promises. I held g to one temporal society of men, and that is the political party which, according to my notions, embodies most fully and most truly, although, I confess, as in the other case, very inadequately, the principles of the Declaration of Independance and of the Constitution of the United States.

This Association, also, of which I have last spoken, is no open one. All its transactions are conducted in the broad daylight, and it invites all circumstances and another of these concessions, which have become labitual here, to the power of Slavery in this Republic. For the acond time, in a period of nearly three months, and all more who become subjects of the power of this Government, of whatever clime of trace or color they may be, to enter into its ranks, to participate in its labors, and to conspersate in maintaining good government and advancing the cours to me. Two or three years ago I suc-confully maintained, in the Supreme Court of ise United States, an action on the case, which ad been brought in a Justice's Court of the tate of New-York by a woman against a post-caster who had refused to deliver to her a nown-

We publish to-day a let er addressed to Hon. Orsamus Cole, asking him to be a candidate for the vecancy that will exist by the expiration of of Judge Crawford's term. Mr. Cole's reply to this invitation is frank and manly—self-knowledges the honor of being thus singled out for so exalted a position, and consents to the use of his name in the canvass.

The issue thus made up for the people to pass their verdict on is simply and savily comprehended, Judge Crawford, and those who vote for him, contend that the Fugnive Slave law is constitutional, and should be enforced. Those who believe the law is unconstitutional, will vote for Mr. Cole.

Ropublicans must bear in mind that this issue caunot be avoided. If Judge Orawford is te-elected, it will be heralded abroad as a verdict of elected, it will be heralded abroad as a verdet of the people of Wisconsin in favor of the Fugitiva Slave law. We are aware that the friends of Judge C. are shouting very lustily against introducing party spirit into our judicial elections, but they are all working most seabously to keep Judge C. on the Supreme Cou's Beach.
Republicans must rally to the fight, or they will find themselves standing offers the Union as the friends of that most infamous of all inhaen the friends of that most infamous of ell inhu-man acts, the Fugitive Slave law.— [Racine Ad-vocate.

Detroit and the Mississippi. A few days since we referred to the advan-tages to Detroit, and the vast importance to the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad, of the Manito Detroit and Milwaukee Relifond, or the mainty were and Mississippi Railroid. We stated that forty two miles of the Road—from Manitowor to Menasha at the cullet of Lake Winnebago; could soon be placed under contract. Since then, Geo, Reed, Enq., its President, has been on a visit to the East, where he has secured such and visit to the East, where he has secured such and such assurances for the future as to authorize the positive attement that these 42 miles will be placed under immediate contract and the work commenced without delay. As the line runs through a very level country, we may reasonably anticipate that it will be finished by the time the Detroit and Milwaukoe Rajlroad will be completed. This will in reality, he are exten-

While upon this subject, we may state, as we are authorized to do by the Engineer-in-Chief, that the Detroit and Milwaukse Road will be graded from Pontian to lows, a distance of 100 miles, by the first of August next, and that the Iron is aiready being laid down on this end of the line. The prospect, threefore, of an early completion of this great enturprise, is most encouraging, as Ionia is more than helf way to Lake Michigan. She touched at Key West, where the Span ish Consul, by order of Captain General of Cuba ha d issued proclamation declaring the whole coast or Cuba n a state of blockade, and also stating that all ressals bound to any port that should be four'd cruizing along the const would be boarded and searched by Spanish War Vesseis.

Later from Havana,

New York, March 5.

The steamer Black Warrior arrived this morning with Havana dates to evening of the 27th.

The blockade of the island of Cuba still continues, but the steamers were not retarded in their movements. No new arrests had transpired, but great military preparations were going on. Hor British Majesty's frigate Rata was in pork. A military review took place near Fort Principe, in presence of the Captain General. Numbers of volunteers were undergoing various discipline.
